Referring to the Constitution of the United States as a spiritual document, the Theosophical Leader said, In drafting it, I am sure that its founders had a vision of the time coming when guns and the implements of war would be things of the past. The secret of overcoming wrong, the secret of avoiding savage methods, --that is what we must find. It seems to me that the real spirit of America lies sleeping; it is still awaiting recognition; but that was the spirit in which I spoke not only in Germany but elsewhere. And when I was recalled to the platform again and again, I felt that I had not earned this tribute. I felt it was really a tribute to my country. And I know that when we try to sing a song of brotherhood and peace to the world, when we encourage the hearts of the nations and keep alive a hope for better things, we are doing more than we dream. A true teacher cannot draw a line and declare that one nation is superior to another. This is never justifiable, because we do not know. I met an old friend while abroad, a famous war-correspondent who has visitied Point Loma and knows of the work there, and he said to me, War is very close. It is very near. I am sure of this. But I say, We can keep back war, if...
